Hello everyone,

Happy Valentine's Day! Today the school marked the celebration by allowing students to come in dressed to impress their Valentine by wearing something red or pink! £1.00 was offered for the privilege and funds raised will go towards PTA funds. Thanks to Hillary Price for coming up with the idea.

G-CUBES

The School received a very interesting visit from Harry this week, a Swiss artist travelling the world on his yacht, sharing his project and invention the 'G-Cube', Harry showed by compressing plastic waste and using resin to make a cube, how this could be used to create Art whilst promoting a solution to the global waste problem. You can find more information on www.g-cubes.com

"G-Cube is working with you, students and children all over the world! Our common goal is to create together a big cube monument made of 1000 small cubes to make people aware of plastic waste. By compressing your plastic waste you don't use any energy and you help to reduce and re-use plastic waste in order to keep your island clean.

Thank you for inviting us to your school.

Harry & Sabina."

Farewell Harry & Layla

Harry and Layla leave for the UK soon and this was their last week of school. They have had an enjoyable time here and made some good friends. It was great to have them join our school and we wish them all the best in their new school.

Ascension Volcanoes – Year 9 Information Update at Museum

We have been very lucky on Ascension to have expert Volcanologists studying our island and have made many interesting discoveries over the last few years. The Island Museum has a section on Ascension’s volcanoes, which in light of recent discoveries is now out of date. Year 9 are studying volcanoes at the moment and as part of unit will be updating the information at the Museum.

minutes from 12:30 to make sure you have eaten and drunk water.

Kingball!

This week in PE, Year 1/2 learned a new game - Kingball! We had to be very quick on our feet to bounce the ball back to the other players.

Next week we will continue our swimming at Two Boats Pool with Mrs Roberts and her Reception class. Mr Britten

ASDAN Progress

Cory Phillips – YR 11 has been working on his ASDAN Silver Challenge and last week and he was delighted to complete his school sign which he made to improve a Garden Project at school. Well done Cory!

Have a great weekend,

Ms Carolyn Yon,
Acting Head teacher.
