Friday 26th June 2020

Hello everybody,

Today sees a welcome end to the week for our senior students who after two weeks finally finish their exams today. A huge well done to all of them for the diligence which they have shown. Next week some of our primary students will be completing their assessments, they are well prepared for this and we wish them well for the week ahead.

Our younger learners in EYFS have embarked upon a topic 'Around the world,' they have already visited St Helena and sampled some St Helenian cuisine. This week they visited South Africa and we welcomed Felicity Hardy to school, who told us all about life there. Thank you to Felicity for coming in and giving us some first-hand information.

This week, in preparation for work experience, we have completed visits to the placements to discuss how students can gain the most from their experience and ensure that employers have had the opportunity to ask any questions. I have been overwhelmed by the support which has been shown to the school and would like to thank everybody involved in both the work experience and in the careers day, which will take place later this term.

Finally, last night we hosted our third parent/carer information event for this half term. The focus for this session was upon Post 16 education opportunities, thank you to all who attend. The event was informative and generated some important questions. Please look out for our schedule of further parent/carer information and training events which we will publish at the start of next academic year.

Wishing you all a happy weekend,

Farah

Mayday!

We are looking for props for the school play and would be grateful if anyone can supply the following:

- Old fashioned crate for drinks – wooden? ('60's)
- Mannequin or head and shoulders model for cloths (for a bridal shop)
- Clothes rail with wheels
- Anything that looks like a wedding dress or bridesmaid's dress (not to be worn, but to be displayed in the shop)
- Veils
- Wooden table (round legs, that could be a café table)
- Seats in wood or metal that could be outdoor café seats
- Wooden ironing board
- Police whistle
- A cap that could belong to New York Police
- Hand cuffs (for police)
- Toy Handgun ('60's) realistic

Big Well Done go out to Jack Kewley, Jordan Reynolds, Zayla Henry, Jaylen Beard, Callum Kane and Bodie Smith for writing completely fluent sentences in French class.
